For my 2nd presentation this semester I presented on the Boal excerpt in the NMR. We didn't use any slides -- because powerpoint does not really allow spectators to become spect-actors. Instead, I gave a quick summary of the excerpt, shared some quotes from the obituary for Boal that was in the most recent issue of TDR journal to give some context to his work, and we attempted to do some Boal-style Forum Theater as a class relating back to the digital with the Darfur is Dying computer game about the conflict in Sudan. Then we had a brief discussion, but we ran out of time!
